

---

Polymerisation solvents

Polymerisation solvents

Hydrocarbons derived from crude naturally contain significant amounts of unwanted impurities which are detrimental to the polymerisation processes. With our Fischer- Tropsch process we produce synthetic hydrocarbons containing only a few of these unwanted impurities. Through further hydro treating and other purification steps, we reduce these impurities even further to acceptable levels and beyond.

The high level of purity,